

How To Get Real Prosperity In Your Life

ZAKAIRAN

Hear a lot of people say they want prosperity and I hear a lot of people complain about their lives not being fulfilling enough because they don't have the money to do what they want. But what are they doing about it?

What are you doing in an active way and internal way, to create wealth, prosperity and fulfillment in your life?

What is your strategy? If your strategy is strictly financial and you are only focused upon marketing and business, or even employment, then you may manifest wealth, but you will not experience fulfillment because you operate strictly in the old world of finance which is built upon lack, not abundance.

To experience fulfillment in the world of money and business, your focus must be on prosperity for all, not just you. So your strategies of finance for yourself, must include prosperity for everyone. Your focus should be to create a fulfilling and joyful experience in your life in general, but also while doing business.

With this focus, you will eventually, through tenacity, create fulfilling abundance and prosperity in your life. To create true prosperity in our lives, we often have to go through some initiations and clear a lot of old baggage from the closet so that we can manifest wealth for ourselves. We often have aspects of our soul - and souls from our past lifetimes - where we have been rich and poor and everything in between, and have experienced many dramas and traumas. And we all carry many issues about money, finance and our own self worth.

We see many who seem able to generate huge amounts of wealth in their lives, but this is their karma, positive or negative. This is the divine plan for them and their soul growth. The point is, regardless of what you do with money or finance, employment or business, where is your heart in the matter? Is your heart really into what you are doing, or is it just your mind, your ideas, beliefs and agreements, about how you should live and act, needing to feel successful, or to be admired and seen as having worth? At what cost to your soul, are the karmic consequences of what you are doing and what you are engaged in? This should be an easy one, because common sense, and our own sense of right and wrong, should tell us what the right thing to do is. This applies to everything we do, from what we eat, what products we put on and in our bodies, what we wear, what we buy and what we invest our money in. If everyone had the ability to truly follow their conscience and their hearts, the planet would be absolute heaven, but unfortunately, desperation breeds ignorance, scoundrels and thieves.

Society is not set up for everyone to succeed, there is still a matrix of competition that penetrates the psyche of humanity, and drives the world of finance. The richest people on the planet, aside from a few, have gotten there through conquering and taking, not by providing for all.

There are countless marketing strategies for creating a successful business, and these strategies are well worth putting effort into, because you must live and work within the world of form and business, but that does not mean that you have to function solely from this world, or utilize any of the typical business principles, or function with its matrix of competition. In a sense, it is more difficult to generate wealth if you are not interested in playing the game of competition, because many or most of the people you may have to interact with in the world of finance, do not know any other way. So you must attract yourself to people who have a similar perception and focus of total prosperity and abundance for every single soul as you. This is the power of the group vibration, something that is available to you through network marketing and other profit sharing business models and being involved with ethical and organic businesses.

From a business perspective, this is really breaking new ground, and innovators in the world of business, built upon competition, often have a hard time becoming successful, and struggle to get their innovations recognised as something that is valuable, and something people want to buy. It is the same with prosperity consciousness - we are the leading edge innovators of the new technologies of consciousness, ascension, spirituality, products, prosperity/manifestation tools and meditations. and the innovators of science technologies, such as energy devices - that are not going to be generally recognised as having any value by typical humanity. But we have also seen through history, that the innovators - those beings who come up with original creative ideas - get ridiculed by the majority of people. However, the visionaries who see their divine potential, and the potential futuristic success of their product or invention, say yes - and support it, energetically and financially. And the inventor becomes hugely successful, and eventually everyone is using that product as if it was never any big deal. Case in point - the personal computer. I recall in a documentary about great inventions that were turned down by corporations: a person or persons who had the idea for personal computers, came to a big computer company with their idea, and the CEO of the company said no one would be interested in having their own personal computer. This type of experience has happened many times throughout the world of business - and the same thing has occurred throughout the millennia, with other ideas, including science and spiritual innovations (first there's many gods, now there's supposed to be only one god).

Which points us to the newest innovation that is occurring on the planet, which is the absolutely wild concept that we are spirits having a human experience, not humans having a spiritual experience.

So back again to strategies - the typical strategy of business is fight and scratch to earn your worth in the world, so that you will be deemed worthy to receive a pay check, or worthy to receive support for your business, or product, and receive financing. But the new strategy, the new system of total prosperity, is not part of the matrix of competition, it may work and play within the financial world of competition - and the key point to your enlightenment is nothing in the matrix is real, even if aspects of ourselves that still believe it is. To be continued...

ZaKaiRan enjoys providing ascension tools and guidance, such as sonic alchemy, and karmic record healing to fully empower others and help them create heaven in their lives. To find out more about him visit www.ZaKaiRan.com.

